

Leaving work, James and I ran into Rob and talked with him in the parking lot of the boat place. He talked about how well he was doing with his new business and the new home he just purchased. He also spoke on Ted and Ron in reference to how they were doing etc. and mentioned that he was not going to testify to that "bull-shit" because it wasn't right. He stated that he and his wife had talked about it and he had had a change of heart and realized it was wrong to do so. She had the same feelings. He stated that instead he would take the "contempt of court charge" and do the time at the County farm. He told James that he was telling him this so that he could relay it to Mr. Kimble.

Walter A. Gilman
8/2/97